DISTRIBUTION OF THE AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS OF THE UNITED STATES, 1897-1901.

INTRODUCTION.

The present bulletin has been prepared for the purpose of bringing down to date statistics published a year ago in a similar report[1] covering the five-year period 1896–1900.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS, BY COUNTRIES.

Of the $952,000,000 worth of farm produce shipped from the United States during the fiscal year 1901, more than half was disposed of in the British market. Our agricultural exports to that destination in the year mentioned had the exceptionally high value of $496,000,000. Cotton was decidedly the largest factor in the trade. Aside from cotton the most important articles of shipment were wheat and wheat flour. Another grain sent to the United Kingdom in large quantities was indian corn, which ranked fourth among the exports for 1901. Live cattle formed the fifth item in point of value, followed, in the order named, by fresh beef, bacon, hams, and lard. The only additional articles having a value in excess of $5,000,000 were tobacco and oats.

After the United Kingdom, the foreign countries affording the largest markets for products of American agriculture in 1901 were Germany, the Netherlands, France, Belgium, Canada, Italy, Denmark, Spain, British Africa, and Cuba.

Our agricultural exports to Germany in that year, like our agricultural exports to the United Kingdom, were unusually large, having a value of $145,000,000. In the case of Germany also, the leading farm product purchased from the United States during 1901 was cotton. Next to cotton, indian corn formed the largest item. Other articles of considerable importance, named in the order of their value, were lard, wheat, oil cake, tobacco, oleo oil, and wheat flour.

To the Netherlands we sold in 1901 $51,000,000 worth of agricultural products. Wheat and corn were the principal exports to that country. Oleo oil also formed an important item in the Dutch trade. Other articles shipped quite extensively were wheat flour, lard, cotton-seed oil, oil cake, and cotton.

The American farm produce sent to France during 1901 had a value of $50,000,000, or slightly less than that sent to the Netherlands. In our agricultural exports to France cotton was of far greater value than all other products combined. Aside from cotton the principal articles of shipment to that destination were cotton-seed oil, tobacco, corn, oats, and lard.

Belgium furnished a market in 1901 for $35,000,000 worth of our agricultural exports. Wheat, cotton, and corn formed the largest items. Lard was also an article of leading importance. Other products of agriculture shipped to Belgium in considerable abundance were oil cake, leaf tobacco, and bacon.

About $28,000,000 worth of United States farm produce was marketed during 1901 in the neighboring country of Canada. Wheat, cotton, and corn were decidedly our largest exports to that destination. Another product shipped quite extensively was tobacco. Horses and cattle also formed items of considerable value. Among numerous other articles those of chief importance were flaxseed, hides and skins, pork, bacon, and hams, oats, oranges, and wheat flour.

To Italy we made shipments of agricultural produce valued at $25,000,000. After cotton, which formed a large part of the trade, the articles marketed there most extensively were tobacco, cotton-seed oil, and wheat.

Our agricultural exports to Denmark in 1901 had a value of over $13,000,000. Aside from indian corn, which was decidedly the foremost item, they consisted chiefly of oil cake, cotton, oleo oil, lard, wheat, and wheat flour.

The shipments of American farm produce to Spain in 1901 were unusually large, having a value of $12,699,000. Cotton formed the bulk of the trade. Other items of some importance were tobacco, wheat, indian corn, and sausage casings.

Exceptionally heavy exports of agricultural produce were also sent to British Africa in 1901, the record for that year showing a value of $12,637,000. These exports went chiefly to British South Africa. Horses and mules for army purposes comprised an important part of the trade. Additional products of American agriculture shipped quite extensively to British South Africa were wheat and wheat flour, corn and corn meal, canned meats, and hay.

To Cuba, which was the only other foreign country in 1901 that purchased over $10,000,000 worth of United States farm produce, shipments were sent amounting in value to $12,624,000. Lard, wheat flour, and cattle formed the largest items among our agricultural exports to Cuba. Other United States products marketed there quite abundantly were indian corn, hams, pork, eggs, bacon, milk, beans and peas, and malt liquors.

In addition to the eleven countries mentioned above, to each of which we sent over $10,000,000 worth of agricultural produce, there were several destinations of less importance that made purchases exceeding $5,000,000, as follows: Sweden and Norway, $7,086,000; Japan, $6,299,000; Mexico, $6,265,000; Hongkong, $5,172,000; and the British West Indies, $5,136,000.

The various countries that have thus far been named received together over nine-tenths of our agricultural exports for 1901. The remainder of the trade was distributed among numerous other destinations, none of which received shipments amounting in value to 1 per cent of the total.

SUMMARY STATEMENT, BY COUNTRIES, OF TOTAL AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS.

In the following summary statement, official[1] statistics are presented as to the value of the agricultural products exported from the United States to the various countries of destination during each year from 1897 to 1901, inclusive:

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS TO ISLAND DEPENDENCIES.

While our exports to the Philippine Islands were included in the general trade returns for 1901, as will be seen by referring to the summary statement of agricultural exports printed above, our exports to Hawaii and Porto Rico were not similarly recorded. In the case of Hawaii the usual statistics of exportation from the United States were not collected, and it is accordingly impossible to present any figures as to the agricultural products shipped to that destination in 1901. As regards our trade with Porto Rico, however, special returns were made, from which a statement of our agricultural exports to that island can be presented.

PORTO RICO.

The agricultural produce shipped from the United States to Porto Rico during 1901 amounted in value to $3,490,000. Rice was decidedly the most important item. Of this product 37,000,000 pounds, worth $1,310,000, were sent to the island. Next to rice, the largest export was wheat flour, the shipments of which amounted to 220,000 barrels and had a value of $820,000. Salted or pickled pork was another leading item, and also lard. Of the former product 4,577,000 pounds, worth $296,000, were shipped, while the exports of lard amounted to 4,086,000 pounds, with a value of $290,000. Among the various other articles sold to the island the most important were cheese, bacon, corn meal, malt liquors, hams, and potatoes. Cheese was exported to the extent of 650,000 pounds, worth $75,000, and bacon to the extent of 921,000 pounds, worth $66,000. The shipments of corn meal were valued at $62,000, amounting to about 30,000 barrels. Malt liquors formed an item of $59,000. The exports of hams were recorded at 641,000 pounds, with a value of $56,000. Potatoes also showed an export value of $56,000, the quantity shipped amounting to 77,000 bushels. Additional agricultural products sent to Porto Rico in considerable quantities during 1901 were: Fresh beef, butter, beans and peas, bread and biscuit, wines, sausages, oleomargarine, canned meats, and refined sugar.

The following table gives detailed statistics as to the quantity and value of the agricultural products exported from the United States to Porto Rico during 1901:

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

The value of the agricultural produce shipped from the United States to the Philippine Islands in 1901 was $2,500,000. Leading articles of exportation, named in the order of their value, were malt liquors, oats, hay, distilled spirits, potatoes, mules, and horses.

Of malt liquors 618,000 dozen quarts were sent to the islands, the value being $762,000. Oats were exported to the extent of 1,258,000 bushels, worth $546,000, and hay to the extent of 17,000 tons, worth $324,000. Distilled spirits formed an item of $316,000, the quantity being 167,000 proof gallons. Of potatoes there were exports amounting to 209,000 bushels, with a value of $131,000. The number of mules shipped was 1,175, valued at $118,000, while the horses numbered 1,578 and had a value of $115,000. Among the various other products of agriculture marketed in the Philippines during 1901 the most important were onions, wines, wheat flour, milk, fruits, and malt.

Following is a statement that shows in detail the quantity and value of the agricultural products exported from the United States to the Philippine Islands during 1901:

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS, BY CONTINENTS.

Nearly nine-tenths of the agricultural produce exported from the United States during 1901 found a market in Europe. The aggregate value of the products of American agriculture shipped to the various countries of that continent during the year mentioned was $847,000,000. These figures are far in excess of any previously recorded. Compared with similar statistics for 1900 they show a gain of over $100,000,000. They make it clear that the recent growth of our agricultural export trade has occurred chiefly in the business done with European countries.

Aside from our European trade the most important foreign markets for domestic farm produce were those afforded by the neighboring countries of North America. The agricultural products shipped from the United States to North American destinations had a value of $60,000,000.

Our agricultural exports to Africa in 1901 were unusually large for that continent, having a value of nearly $15,000,000. This was a gain of about $3,000,000 over the returns for 1900.

In our trade with Asia, on the other hand, a considerable decline occurred during 1901, the record for that year falling to about $14,000,000, or more than $8,000,000 less than in 1900.

The agricultural exports of the United States to South America in 1901 were valued at about $11,000,000. They showed an increase of nearly $2,000,000 over the figures of the preceding year.

In the case of Oceania, also, the official returns for 1901 would doubtless have shown an increased exportation were it not for the omission of the shipments to Hawaii. With the exclusion of the products sent to Hawaii our agricultural exports to Oceania in that year had a value of $4,600,000.

The value of the agricultural products exported from the United States to the several continents during each of the five years 1897–1901 will be seen from the statistics presented in the following table:

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS, BY PRINCIPAL GROUPS.

In respect to value, the ten leading groups of produce in our agricultural export trade for 1901 ranked in the following order: Cotton, breadstuffs, meat products, live animals, tobacco, vegetable oils, oil cake and oil-cake meal, fruits and nuts, dairy products, and seeds.

Statistics showing the value of these leading items for each of the five years 1897–1901 are presented in the following table:

Value of the agricultural exports of the United States, by leading groups, during each fiscal year from 1897 to 1901, inclusive.

COTTON.

Cotton was by far the most important of our agricultural exports in 1901. The shipments of this product had an aggregate value of $315,000,000. Nearly half of the cotton sent abroad during the year mentioned found a market in the United Kingdom, that country receiving consignments worth $147,000,000. Germany, which ranked next to the United Kingdom as a consumer of American cotton, made purchases amounting to $77,000,000. France stood third among our foreign markets, buying $35,000,000 worth. To Italy, which occupied fourth place, we sold cotton to the extent of $17,000,000. Spain ranked fifth among the purchasing countries, the shipments to that destination having a value of about $11,000,000.

After the five countries mentioned, which together took about 90 per cent of the cotton exported from the United States during 1901, the principal foreign markets for this product were Belgium, Canada, Japan, European Russia, and the Netherlands. The shipments to Belgium were valued at $7,408,000. Canada made purchases to the extent of $5,127,000. In the case of Japan our sales were smaller than for several years, amounting to only $4,086,000. To European Russia we sold $2,499,000 worth, and to the Netherlands, $2,466,000, worth.

The only other countries that took exports of cotton worth over $1,000,000, with the values recorded in each instance, were as follows: Mexico, $1,751,000; Austria-Hungary, $1,686,000; and Denmark, $1,177,000.

BREADSTUFFS.

The breadstuffs shipped from the United States to foreign markets during 1901 had an aggregate value of $276,000,000. More than half of these exports went to the United Kingdom, the consignments received by that country amounting in value to $150,000,000. Aside from the United Kingdom the largest foreign markets in 1901 were those afforded by Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, and Canada. To Germany we sent $30,000,000 worth of breadstuffs, and to the Netherlands, $23,000,000 worth. Belgium made purchases to the extent of $15,000,000, while to Canada there were shipments valued at $11,000,000.

Foremost among other destinations were Denmark, France, Hongkong, Cuba, Portugal, British Africa, the British West Indies, and Brazil. The exports to Denmark were valued at $6,465,000, and those to France at $4,498,000. Hongkong received consignments worth $3,982,000. Cuba, which made larger purchases than for several years, took shipments worth $3,180,000. To Portugal we sent exports having a value of $3,119,000. In the trade with British Africa exports of breadstuffs worth $3,050,000 were recorded. The principal part of these exports found a market in British South Africa. To the British West Indies we sold $2,890,000 worth, and to Brazil $2,727,000 worth.

The only other countries that received consignments valued above $1,000,000 were the following: Sweden and Norway, $1,538,000; Mexico, $1,185,000; Japan, $1,109,000; and Portuguese Africa, $1,040,000.

MEAT PRODUCTS.

American meat products were marketed abroad during 1901 to the value of $186,000,000. The United Kingdom took $118,000,000 worth, or nearly two-thirds of the total exports. After the United Kingdom, Germany and the Netherlands were our largest customers. To Germany we sold $21,000,000 worth, and to the Netherlands $13,000,000 worth.

Extensive sales were also made to Belgium, Cuba, Sweden and Norway, and France. Our exports to Belgium had a value of $5,778,000. Cuba purchased to the extent of $5,000,000. The shipments to Sweden and Norway were valued at $4,419,000, and those to France at $2,512,000.

Other countries that bought over $1,000,000 worth of American meat products were the following: Denmark, $1,997,000; Canada, $1,994,000; Brazil, $1,354,000; the British West Indies, $1,332,000; and British South Africa, $1,033,000.

LIVE ANIMALS.

The live-stock export trade of the United States during 1901 amounted in value to $52,000,000. The United Kingdom furnished the principal foreign market, taking shipments worth $40,000,000. Among the other destinations of this trade, British South Africa, Cuba, and Canada were the most important. To British South Africa we sent live animals worth $5,909,000. Cuba received consignments valued at $2,080,000, while our exports to Canada had a value of $1,777,000.

TOBACCO.

Tobacco in its various unmanufactured forms was exported during 1901 to the value of $28,000,000. The United Kingdom, Italy, Germany, and France made the largest purchases. To the United Kingdom we sent shipments valued at $8,821,000. Italy furnished a market for consignments worth $4,458,000. Our exports to Germany were valued at $3,914,000, and our exports to France at $3,063,000. Among other countries of destination, those receiving the largest shipments were Belgium, the Netherlands, and Canada. The exports to these countries were valued as follows: Belgium, $1,707,000; the Netherlands, $1,567,000; and Canada, $1,020,000.

VEGETABLE OILS.

The vegetable oils exported from the United States in 1901 had a value of $19,000,000. Among the various foreign markets to which shipments were sent, the Netherlands, France, and the United Kingdom ranked foremost. The Netherlands made purchases to the amount of $4,118,000, France to the amount of $3,398,000, and the United Kingdom to the amount of $2,064,000. Additional destinations of leading importance were Belgium, Germany, Italy, and Austria-Hungary. Our exports to Belgium were worth $1,730,000, and our exports to Germany, $1,687,000. Italy and Austria-Hungary each received shipments to the value of $1,369,000.

OIL CAKE AND OIL-CAKE MEAL.

Of oil cake and oil-cake meal the United States sent abroad in 1901 shipments having a value of nearly $19,000,000. Germany and the United Kingdom afforded the principal markets. Our exports to Germany were worth $5,286,000, and our exports to the United Kingdom, $4,461,000. Extensive shipments were also made to the Netherlands, that country taking consignments valued at $3,037,000. Of the remaining destinations to which we exported oil cake and oil-cake meal in 1901, Denmark and Belgium were the most important. To Denmark there were shipments worth $2,775,000, while our exports to Belgium had a value of $2,335,000.

FRUITS AND NUTS.

In our agricultural export trade for 1901, fruits and nuts formed an item of nearly $11,000,000. Shipments of these products went to a large number of destinations, the most important among which were the United Kingdom, Germany, and Canada. The United Kingdom made purchases to the extent of $4,606,000. To Germany we sold $1,717,000 worth and to Canada $1,648,000 worth. Of the remaining countries of destination, those receiving the largest shipments were the Netherlands, British Australasia, Belgium, British South Africa, France, Cuba, and Mexico.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

Dairy products worth $9,404,000 were exported from the United States during 1901. The principal part of these exports went to the British market, where consignments valued at $6,914,000 were received. Next to the United Kingdom, Cuba was the destination of the largest shipments, our sales to that island amounting to $456,000. Other countries that bought dairy products from the United States in considerable quantities were Canada, Brazil, the British West Indies, the Chinese Empire, Japan, and Mexico.

SEEDS.

Of seeds the United States exported during 1901 $6,385,000 worth. The bulk of the trade was distributed among four countries—the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Germany, and Canada. To the Netherlands we sent shipments worth $1,633,000. The United Kingdom made purchases to the extent of $1,534,000, and Germany to the extent of $1,288,000. Our exports to Canada were valued at $1,217,000. Among other foreign markets, Belgium and France stood foremost.

DISTRIBUTION OF AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS, IN DETAIL.

The tables presented on the following pages embrace all the agricultural exports of the United States for the fiscal years 1897–1901, showing in the case of each article the extent of the shipments sent to the several countries of destination. For convenience in classification the articles are divided into two groups, consisting, respectively, of animal matter and vegetable matter. The tables are arranged in two series, the first relating to the value and the second to the quantity of the articles exported. To facilitate comparison cross references are given from each table of values to the corresponding table of quantities, and vice versa. In some cases, however, values only are given, no returns being made as to quantity. An index to the articles covered by the tables is printed on pages 199–202. The tables are as follows:
